Stephanie Rogers (she/her)

Administrative Services Manager, NPHI

in

Stephanie serves as Administrative Services Manager with the National Partnership for Healthcare and Hospice Innovation. In this capacity, she supports NPHI's 100+ members and their staff as well as managing the NPHI executive team in various roles.

When it comes to our members, Stephanie maintains all membership data metrics, collects, and disseminates annual member information, and manages Member Portal access and content. She is also responsible for managing the website and handling internal communications through a weekly newsletter that is distributed to thousands of individuals across the United States. She manages meeting communications and oversees all meeting registrations – helping to facilitate NPHI's annual summit registration process for hundreds of attendees.

For NPHI, Stephanie supports a multitude of short and long-term initiatives, including project management tasks for NPHI's Innovation Lab. When it comes to internal projects, she serves as a liaison between NPHI and partner organizations such as the American Lung Association and helps to manage project pipelines to ensure the timely completion of tasks.

Prior to joining NPHI, Stephanie worked in Retail Management and as a Call Center Manager. She also volunteered on various PTO boards in the role of Treasurer. In addition to her role at NPHI, Stephanie runs a successful small business.

Born and raised in Germany, Stephanie brings a wealth of international experience to NPHI which enables her to engage successfully with a variety of individuals. Prior to her time in the United States, she lived on every continent bar Oceania. In her spare time, she enjoys reading, boating, and spending time with her husband and two grown daughters. She holds a Bachelor of Arts degree from Georgetown University, where she graduated magna cum laude.
