

William E. Finn

President and CEO, Hospice of the Western Reserve

Bill Finn has been involved in hospice and end-of-life-care for 40 years. Bill has held CEO positions at multiple not-for-profit hospices and has been active at both the state and national level in advancing innovation, access, and quality of care at end of life. Bill has served on multiple state and federal association boards and has spoken and consulted extensively. Bill is the President & CEO of Western Reserve Care Solutions and Hospice of the Western Reserve, based in Cleveland, and regularly volunteers in hospice inpatient units as a caregiver.

Bill received his Master of Business Administration degree from the State University of New York at Buffalo and has a certification in Hospice and Palliative Care Administration.